

Keeping Bristol Safe Partnership

The Child Protection Conference guide for Bristol children and their families is now available on the KBSP website in both the Professional Resources section under Multi-Agency meetings, and within the Children's section, under the subsection of Support for Children and Families.

The Child Protection Conference guide for Bristol children and their families has been created and endorsed by parent experts with lived experience, the children and young peoples' shadow board, partner agencies and Senior leaders within Children Services. This is an easy access guide for everyone. It is divided up into relevant sections for parents, carers, children, social workers, and partner agencies to help you through the child protection conference process.

The overarching aim of this guide is to provide essential and useful information to all, in one place. To help build a better understanding and reduce anxiety about child protection conference and process, for parents, children, and professionals.

This guide can be used by clicking the pages you want to read within the contents page. Please take time to familiarise yourselves with it and share this guide within your own agencies.

We believe that if everyone is better prepared that this will help us have more meaningful conversations in conference and enable us with the families to develop good safety plans and appropriate next steps to reduce worries and increase safety.

We hope that you find this guide helpful.
